

How are you? I'm Elliott Jackson, student body president. I'm a forensic science major with a concentration in biology.

I chose Fayetteville State University because they were the only public institution in the state of North Carolina at the time to offer forensic science as a major. So that's what really sold me on coming to Fayetteville State and then once I got to the actual first steps, it sold me on it for sure.

My English 110 professor and 120 professor has been like the most helpful to me. Her name's Dr. Ferguson. She has been awesome for my professional development and also for my development as a person period.

Fayetteville State is definitely going to be a rigorous environment that's going to push you to your next level and to develop you as a person. So if you're interested in growing, choose Fayetteville State.

I am proud to be a bronco because I am always allowed to do anything that I need to grow. And everyone – they helped promote that so I'm really excited to be Bronco.
