II. COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course focuses on multi-culturally competent social work practice with children and adolescents living in diverse family arrangements. The continuum of services and resources available to children and adolescents and the roles and functions of the social worker in these settings are examined. Economic, social, and psychological concerns of vulnerable children are identified, and intervention strategies that will effectively meet these needs will be addressed. Students are presented with specialized knowledge and skills essential for working with children and adolescents. Issues regarding children and adolescents will be examined.

FSU Policy on Electronic Mail: Fayetteville State University provides to each student, free of charge, an electronic mail account (username@uncfsu.edu) that is easily accessible via the Internet. The university has established FSU email as the primary mode of correspondence between university officials and enrolled students. Inquiries and requests from students pertaining to academic records, grades, bills, financial aid, and other matters of a confidential nature must be submitted via FSU email. Inquiries or requests from personal email accounts are not assured a response. The university maintains open-use computer laboratories throughout the campus that can be used to access electronic mail. Rules and regulations governing the use of FSU email may be found: http://www.uncfsu.edu/PDFs/EmailPolicyFinal.pdf

VI. Course Requirements

Students are responsible for all material assigned and discussed in the course. Assignments are to be submitted to the instructor on time. Assignments submitted late will be subject to a grading penalty of 5 points reduction per day (day count includes weekends) the assignment is late. Students are expected to do assigned readings prior to class in order to participate in classroom discussions. It is expected that all students participate in classroom discussions, and group exercises. Cellular phones and beepers are not to be turned on during class. According to University policy, children and visitors are not allowed in class.

Students are expected to follow the Honor Code guidelines of the University. Students who cheat on exams and/or assignments, or commit plagiarism, will receive a grade of zero (0) for the work on which the offense was committed. The maximum penalty is failure of the course.

A. Attendance Policy:

All social work courses are preparation for professional practice. This means that excessive absences, tardiness and early departures will not be tolerated any more than such behaviors would be tolerated in the work world.

Class attendance and participation are integral parts of this course. The professor feels learning cannot take place unless the student is present during class meetings. To aid students in making the transition from student to professional, absences will not be tolerated. One must recognize that commitment to a goal (in this case learning) is important. Attending all classes constitutes a commitment to learning.

Students are expected to attend class, arrive to class on time and to stay for the duration of the class. You are late if you arrive 15 minutes after the scheduled class start time. Three late arrivals can constitute one absence. Students are expected to notify the instructor of absences before or after the absence. Three absences can result in a letter grade reduction.

B. Students with Disabilities:

According to the Fayetteville State University Graduate Catalogue for 2002-2004, “the University provides for the matriculation of all students without regard to sex, race, religion, or physical disability. The University continues to be sensitive to the identification of possible barriers to students with disabilities and attempts to make reasonable accommodations for these students. Students with disabilities who need assistance in utilizing university services should register with the Center for Personal Development as soon as they are admitted to the University.” (pp. 37-38).

C. Teaching Methods:

Teaching methods used in this course will include lectures, discussion, role-plays, simulations, small group exercises, videos and the internet. Students are expected to engage in discussion regarding course content and practice issues.

VII. Evaluative Criteria and Assignments:

Mid-Term Exam 25%
Papers – 25%
Final Exam – 25%
Paper Presentation - Child/Adolescent Issue/Intervention 25%

A. Duplicating Assignments

Work must be original to the assignment of this course and must not be replicated from or to another course assignment. Under no circumstances will a student be allowed to turn in identical papers to different professors in the Social Work Department or to use any type of commercial service to prepare their assignments. For example, a student cannot use a term paper or revise a term paper that he or she wrote for Social Work with Families for a term paper assigned for this class. A grade of “0” will be assigned the duplicated or revised term paper.

There are instances when a similar or identical topic, theme, issues, population, problem, or method is examined in the course assignments for two or more courses. If similar topics, etc. are used, the paper or assignment has to be distinctively different from assignments in other courses on the same topic or subject. The student has to obtain the written consent or approval of both or more instructors (in the case of more than two instructors) before the assignment is turned in. Instructors are under no obligation to provide their consent.

If you have questions about assignments, you need to consult with the instructor.

B. Course Assignments:

1. Paper/Project (25%)

   Part I. You should begin the research for this assignment now. You are to choose a specific ethnic group, such as: Native American, Chinese, Korean, African etc. and describe in detail the rearing practices of that particular group. You must include the philosophy about children of the culture, beliefs about the role(s) of children, disciplinary patterns, dating patterns, rites, child’s relationship to elders and the culture’s expectation about children as adults. Also, include the learning styles of the culture and the processes employed to inculcate the culture to the children.

   What are the possible common problems the child might face during one particular or various stages of the developmental process, presenting the etiology. Discuss the possible effects of these problems on the child. (remember all the aspects of the child). You must support your paper using the appropriate theories. Remember you are a social worker, so the person in and environment.

   Part II. This assignment requires you to create a scholarly presentation on an issue/concern which you discussed in your texts or during class. You are to choose a child/adolescent with diversity in mind that is you must be specific about race, geographical location, gender. The paper will include a brief assessment, a treatment plan, your treatment plan needs to be supported from a theoretical perspective, and a brief description of the concerns you will have in its implementation. I would suggest that you look at the treatment intervention from a resiliency perspective, you might want to refer to Michael Ungar’s edited publication (2005), Handbook for working with children and youth: Pathways to resilience across cultures and contexts, Sage Publications.

   This assignment may be done as an individually and written proposal is necessary. The maximum paper length is 25 but no less than 20 pages, not including references nor cover page. You might even think about interviewing someone or discussing the assignment for informational with a knowledgeable professional.

2. Mid-Term Examination: (25%) This will include all the assigned readings and lecture material inclusive of the date of the exam.
3. Child/Adolescent Issue Presentation: (25%)

This presentation will be no less than 30 minutes in length, and is to include a PowerPoint presentation and a reference list provided to the instructor. The student may use one video, youtube, or internet communications but this video will not count toward the 30 minutes required presentation time. Handouts for students and an evaluation are encouraged. Of course the presentation is on your final piece of work.

Be creative in your presentation (role-plays, experiential exercises involving your colleagues, etc.) and have FUN!!!!

4. All written paper assignments must have at least 10 refereed journal articles.

5. WRITTEN WORK:

Written work must show thoroughness, clarity, and professionalism. This includes first writing, reviewing, editing and then rewriting. All work should be carefully proofread and corrected. Papers should be free of errors. All assignments must be typed, double-spaced, and include a titled page. Papers written from sources must include citations following the APA style of writing in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 5th edition (2001). The following web sites provide helpful information:

- http://library.concordia.ca/faqs/apa.pdf (APA Style for general citations)

Grading Scale:

Final Grades – Graduate Students – Graduate students are expected to demonstrate an ability to analyze material and be critical thinkers.

A – Superior- 90-100 (content is exceptional (usually something different from the norm or unusual analysis or information), grammar and punctuations correct, appropriate use of APA Writing Style Manual
B – 80-89 Good (graduate level work)
C -70-79 Marginal (acceptable for graduate credit; three C’s and you are dropped from the program)
F –less than 70 Failure (any level of performance below “C”)

Interim Grades:
I - Incomplete
IP - In Progress (dissertation/thesis only)

Other Grading Symbols
W - Withdrawal
WU - Withdrawal from University
AU - Auditing (no credit)

Incomplete Grades:

A grade of “I” is assigned when students have maintained a passing average but for reasons beyond their control (illness or death in the family) have not completed some specific course requirement(s), such as a report, field experience, experiment, or final examination. The “I” grade must be removed within one year, or it is converted to a grade of “F.”

CLASS BEHAVIOR: Cell phones are a major disruption to the learning process and must not be in use or turned on during class.
FSU Policy on Disruptive Behavior in the Classroom

The Code of the University of North Carolina (of which FSU is a constituent institution) and the FSU Code of Student Conduct affirm that all students have the right to receive instruction without interference from other students who disrupt classes.

FSU Core Curriculum Learning Outcome under Ethics and Civic Engagement (6.03): All students will “prepare themselves for responsible citizenship by fulfilling roles and responsibilities associated with membership in various organizations.” Each classroom is a mini-community. Students learn and demonstrate responsible citizenship by abiding by the rules of classroom behavior and respecting the rights all members of the class.

The FSU Policy on Disruptive Behavior (see FSU website for complete policy) identifies the following behaviors as disruptive:
1. Failure to respect the rights of other students to express their viewpoints by behaviors such as repeatedly interrupting others while they speak, using profanity and/or disrespectful names or labels for others, ridiculing others for their viewpoints, and other similar behaviors;
2. Excessive talking to other students while the faculty member or other students are presenting information or expressing their viewpoints.
3. Please silence your cell phones; however use other electronic devices during class is encouraged (Will be explained in detailed during class)
4. Overt inattentiveness (sleeping, reading newspapers)
5. Eating in class (except as permitted by the faculty member)
6. Threats or statements that jeopardize the safety of the student and others
7. Failure to follow reasonable requests of faculty members
8. Entering class late or leaving class early on regular basis
9. Others as specified by the instructor.

The instructor may take the following actions in response to disruptive behavior. Students should recognize that refusing to comply with reasonable requests from the faculty member is another incidence of disruptive behavior.

1. Direct student to cease disruptive behavior.
2. Direct student to change seating locations.
3. Require student to have individual conference with faculty member. At his meeting the faculty member will explain the consequences of continued disruptive behavior.
4. Dismiss class for the remainder of the period. (Must be reported to department chair.)
5. Lower the student’s final exam by a maximum of one-letter grade.
6. File a complaint with the Dean of Students for more severe disciplinary action.

Students who believe the faculty member has unfairly applied the policy to them may make an appeal with the faculty member’s department chair.
