Graduate School Frequently Asked Questions

What types of graduate programs are available at FSU?

FSU offers a doctoral degree, master's degrees, teacher licensure, certificates, and professional development opportunities. Explore programs, and contact your program for additional information.

What are the admission requirements?

Admission requirements vary by program, and they are described in the admissions section of the graduate academic catalog.

What is the admission application deadline?

Admission application deadlines vary by program. The Office of Admissions and the Department of Graduate and Professional Studies in Business list application deadlines.

How do I apply?

Apply online.

How do I register for the GMAT, GRE, TOEFL, or MAT?

Register online for the GMAT, GRE, or TOEFL, and contact a testing center to apply for the MAT.

What are the tuition and fees?

Student Accounts publishes detailed information on tuition and fees.

What types of financial aid does FSU offer?

The Office of Financial Aid provides an overview of financial aid opportunities.

What are the residency requirements, and how can I change my classification? The Office of Admissions publishes information about residency.

When do classes start and end? FSU's Academic Calendars include detailed class information.

What classes are offered?

Search class schedule information published by the Office of the Registrar.

How do I register for classes?

The Office of the Registrar explains how to register for classes. For additional information, contact your program.

Where can I find more information about campus and the Fayetteville area?

The Division of Student Affairs publishes information about campus life, and the City of Fayetteville posts local and regional information.