

I was born and raised in Fayetteville, North Carolina in a family of two brothers and three sisters. I graduate from Reid Ross Classical School in 2008 as a Distinguish Graduate and recipient of the Gates Millennium Scholarship. In high school I lived by the quote of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. "Intelligence plus Character-that is the true goal of education"

Dr. King once said, "Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere." My involvement as a volunteer with the Cumberland County Teen Court program inspired me to go into the field of criminal justice. Since becoming a criminal justice major I have recently obtained my certification from North Carolina as a mediator and along with my criminal justice degree. It is my desire to obtain a Juris Doctorate and practice law in North Carolina, along with inspiring other young people that they can reach their goal and become successful. Just like the bible verse in the Ephesians 3:20 "Now unto him that is able to do exceedingly abundantly above all that we ask or think according to the power that worked in us." This means that the sky is not the limit, the limit do not have a minimum or maximum. You can go as far as you desire to go.

I applied to be Chancellor for a Day in April 2010, because I wanted to see true leadership and dedication which was displayed by Chancellor James Anderson and the other Vice-Chancellors. The most difficult part I found during my day was introducing the Chancellor at the Chancellor's List Ceremony. Being with the Chancellor has really showed me what it takes to be leader and to be dedicated once you have started something. This is one memory of college that will stay with me for the rest if my life.
