That means you will have a greater understanding of how different kinds of information can be found, when and why you should trust it, and how you can best use it to suit your purposes. 4. GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

Attendance and tardiness: Attending class is the single most important habit you can get into as a university student, and that holds true for this class as well. In accordance with university policy, if you miss several classes without talking to me, I will give you an EA interim grade, which may turn into an FN (failure due to non-attendance) at the end of the semester if you do not return to class. If you are forced to miss class due to something beyond your control, you will need to get in touch with me as soon as possible via phone or email and provide documentation within 2 class periods of your return. In this event, your absence will be excused.

Electronic devices: Cell phones, pagers, Blackberries, laptops, and other electronic devices are a distraction to our learning process and can be used to aid academic dishonesty. Therefore, they must be turned off and stowed out of sight for the duration of class time. If there is some sort of emergency that requires you to be accessible during class, let me know ahead of time, set your phone to silent, and excuse yourself quietly if it should ring.

Academic Dishonesty: According to the FSU Code of Student Conduct, a student violates the Academic Dishonesty Policy if he or she attempts to cheat or plagiarize, cheats (receiving unauthorized aid or assistance on any form of academic work), plagiarizes (copies the language structure, ideas and/or thoughts of another without giving appropriate recognition and/or adopting it as one's own original work), falsifies (unauthorized changing of grades or conduct involving any untruth, spoken or written, regarding any circumstances related to academic work), or aids and abets others to cheat or plagiarize. Penalties include failing the course, suspension, and expulsion, and will be prosecuted to the fullest extent possible.

Knowing this, it would be wise to plan your time so you don't get stuck and do something stupid at the last minute.

You may not use papers you have written for other courses. All the work you do for this course must be original.

Disruptive Behavior in the Classroom

Disruptive Behavior – As used in this policy, any student behavior that interferes with instruction and learning. Examples include, though are not limited to, the following:

1. Failure to respect the rights of other students to express their viewpoints by behaviors such as repeatedly interrupting others while they speak, using profanity and/or disrespectful names or labels for others, ridiculing others for their viewpoints, and other similar behaviors

6. Threats or statements that jeopardize the safety of the student and others
7. Failure to follow reasonable requests of faculty members; and/or
8. Entering class late or leaving class early on a regular basis

Faculty members have the right to clarify specific forms of disruptive behavior beyond those cited above. Students should recognize that refusing to comply with reasonable requests from the faculty member is another incidence of disruptive behavior.

The instructor may take the following actions in response to disruptive behavior.

1. Direct student to cease disruptive behavior.
2. Direct student to change seating locations.
3. Require student to have individual conference with faculty member. At this meeting the faculty member will explain the consequences of continued disruptive behavior.
