

DEPARTMENT CHAIR. Fayetteville State University, a member institution of the 16-campus University of North Carolina, seeks a visionary and highly innovative Chair to lead a psychology department currently consisting of eleven tenured or tenure-track faculty, 35 graduate students in two master's programs (counseling and experimental), and 483 undergraduate majors. The department is in the early stages of planning a doctoral program (contingent upon university and governing board approval) that will emphasize mental health interventions and concomitant research with military families and disenfranchised populations including minorities experiencing inequities. The successful candidate will be expected to play a significant role in the building and leading of this program.

Current faculty members have scholarly interests extending across many subfields of psychology (clinical/counseling, social, developmental, biopsychology, and health) and the university encourages multidisciplinary programs and research bolstered by many complementary programs in the social and natural sciences. To obtain additional information about the department, visit the website at www.uncfsu.edu/psychology.

Fayetteville State University is located in Fayetteville, North Carolina which is the home of Fort Bragg and Pope AFB, and is within a two-hour drive of NC beaches and a one-hour drive of Raleigh-Durham-Chapel-Hill, NC, home of the Research Triangle Park and Duke University, NC State University, and UNC-Chapel Hill. Fayetteville enjoys a temperate climate and a low cost of living.

Applicants must have a doctorate in psychology and a record of excellence in teaching, research, and service commensurate with the rank of a tenured Associate or Full Professor. Preferred are candidates who have experience with administrative academic leadership, acquisition of extramural grant funding, and the generation of a major program of online courses. The position start-date is August 1, 2010 and applications will be reviewed until the position is filled. The salary is highly competitive and will be consistent with credentials and experience.

To apply, please submit a letter of application (including a statement of administrative/leadership philosophy), a curriculum vitae, reprints of recent publications, three letters of recommendation from individuals who are familiar with the applicant's employment history, all official graduate and undergraduate transcripts to: Dr. David E. Barlow, Dean, College of Arts and Sciences Fayetteville State University, 1200 Murchison Road, Fayetteville, NC 28301-4298.

This position is subject to the successful completion of an employment background check. An employment background check includes a criminal background check, employment verification, reference checks, license verification (if applicable) and credit history check (if applicable).

Fayetteville State University is committed to equality of educational opportunity and does not discriminate against applicants, students, or employees based on race, color, national origin, religion, gender, sexual orientation, age, or disability. Moreover, Fayetteville State University values diversity and actively seeks to recruit talented students, faculty, and staff from diverse backgrounds.