

The School of Business and Economics

Proudly Presents

“Government: Friend or Foe of Minorities?”

By: Casey Lartigue

Casey Lartigue offers a fresh perspective on racial issues.

Currently based in Seoul, Korea, Lartigue is an education and policy analyst, formerly at the Cato Institute. He also hosted the Casey Lartigue Show on XM Radio, a weekly political talk show, and was research manager for Fight For Children, a Washington, DC based non-profit organization.

Lartigue's writings have been published in USA Today, Education Week, and the Washington Post. He has spoken at Harvard Law School, the Harvard Graduate School of Education, and the National Press Club and been a featured guest on the Rush Limbaugh Show and C-SPAN. He received a bachelor's degree from the Harvard University Extension School and a master's degree from the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

October 12, 2009

2:00 – 3:00 pm

Shaw Auditorium

(In the School of Business and Economics, on the Campus of Fayetteville State University)