

So, I'm Majesty Graves. I'm a junior here at Fayetteville State University. My major is marketing.

Well I chose to come in Fayetteville State because first it's in my hometown. I love the Broncos both my sisters and both my parents graduated from here so that was pretty cool and so that kind of encouraged me to become a fellow Bronco and I really enjoy it here. I love it.

Well the marketing program it offers a lot of opportunities. You get a lot of internship opportunities too. So, marketing for me it's really fun so being able to learn the digital part the advertising part the public part is really interesting.

I had Dr. Lightner. She's a wonderful teacher I can tell that she just loves teaching and so when somebody loves teaching you love to be taught to by them. I also - Dr. Brown he was not my teacher but he's one of my advisors for the club, so he's really good. They have some online teachers who don't really know them personally but being able to learn him online that was that was pretty cool.

Definitely just being able to communicate and to be friends with other business majors that was really that's really cool cause like a commonality there but it's also we're all still young and almost in the same boat so that was yeah just a friendship the relationships you build with the people here we're really cool. And Broncos are a lot of pride I mean homecoming is a business when they they come back so I love Fayetteville State. It's a community and a family here.
