What’s New
❖ From 10/22 to 11/23, Charles Chestnutt Library welcomes “Opening Doors: Contemporary African American Surgeons.” The exhibit is open during normal library hours and available online.

Early Colleges
❖ CEEHS held FAFSA night on the second of October, helping families jump-start the college preparation process.

❖ Emma B., Azia J., and Alexander W. were recognized as “Exemplary Early College Students” at FSU’s Awards Ceremony in May.

The Classroom Experience
❖ To improve student academic performance and to increase overall student retention, Eli Zimmerman recommends several interactive strategies in “Active-Learning Classroom, Seven Tips” in Higher Education.

To include news in next month’s issue, please contact Micki Nyman, mnyman@uncfsu.edu.

Bronco Regard
The Newsletter of Academic Affairs
Fayetteville State University
Issue Seven, October 2019

Kudos
❖ FSU Alumna Breana C. Venablé (Speech and Theatre, 2012) is a successful playwright living and working in New York City.

❖ FSU Alumnus Titus Farrell (Speech and Theatre, 2011) performs for Educational Theatre—Kaiser Permanente in the Atlanta area and runs his own production company.

Departments’ Doings
❖ Dr. Joshua M. Murray (English) has inked a contract to co-edit Editing the Harlem Renaissance for Clemson University Press.

❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Cyberworld
❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Newsletter of Academic Affairs
Fayetteville State University
Issue Seven, October 2019

Kudos
❖ FSU Alumna Breana C. Venablé (Speech and Theatre, 2012) is a successful playwright living and working in New York City.

❖ FSU Alumnus Titus Farrell (Speech and Theatre, 2011) performs for Educational Theatre—Kaiser Permanente in the Atlanta area and runs his own production company.

Departments’ Doings
❖ Dr. Joshua M. Murray (English) has inked a contract to co-edit Editing the Harlem Renaissance for Clemson University Press.

❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Cyberworld
❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Newsletter of Academic Affairs
Fayetteville State University
Issue Seven, October 2019

Kudos
❖ FSU Alumna Breana C. Venablé (Speech and Theatre, 2012) is a successful playwright living and working in New York City.

❖ FSU Alumnus Titus Farrell (Speech and Theatre, 2011) performs for Educational Theatre—Kaiser Permanente in the Atlanta area and runs his own production company.

Departments’ Doings
❖ Dr. Joshua M. Murray (English) has inked a contract to co-edit Editing the Harlem Renaissance for Clemson University Press.

❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Cyberworld
❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Newsletter of Academic Affairs
Fayetteville State University
Issue Seven, October 2019

Kudos
❖ FSU Alumna Breana C. Venablé (Speech and Theatre, 2012) is a successful playwright living and working in New York City.

❖ FSU Alumnus Titus Farrell (Speech and Theatre, 2011) performs for Educational Theatre—Kaiser Permanente in the Atlanta area and runs his own production company.

Departments’ Doings
❖ Dr. Joshua M. Murray (English) has inked a contract to co-edit Editing the Harlem Renaissance for Clemson University Press.

❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Cyberworld
❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Newsletter of Academic Affairs
Fayetteville State University
Issue Seven, October 2019

Kudos
❖ FSU Alumna Breana C. Venablé (Speech and Theatre, 2012) is a successful playwright living and working in New York City.

❖ FSU Alumnus Titus Farrell (Speech and Theatre, 2011) performs for Educational Theatre—Kaiser Permanente in the Atlanta area and runs his own production company.

Departments’ Doings
❖ Dr. Joshua M. Murray (English) has inked a contract to co-edit Editing the Harlem Renaissance for Clemson University Press.

❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Cyberworld
❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Newsletter of Academic Affairs
Fayetteville State University
Issue Seven, October 2019

Kudos
❖ FSU Alumna Breana C. Venablé (Speech and Theatre, 2012) is a successful playwright living and working in New York City.

❖ FSU Alumnus Titus Farrell (Speech and Theatre, 2011) performs for Educational Theatre—Kaiser Permanente in the Atlanta area and runs his own production company.

Departments’ Doings
❖ Dr. Joshua M. Murray (English) has inked a contract to co-edit Editing the Harlem Renaissance for Clemson University Press.

❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Cyberworld
❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Newsletter of Academic Affairs
Fayetteville State University
Issue Seven, October 2019

Kudos
❖ FSU Alumna Breana C. Venablé (Speech and Theatre, 2012) is a successful playwright living and working in New York City.

❖ FSU Alumnus Titus Farrell (Speech and Theatre, 2011) performs for Educational Theatre—Kaiser Permanente in the Atlanta area and runs his own production company.

Departments’ Doings
❖ Dr. Joshua M. Murray (English) has inked a contract to co-edit Editing the Harlem Renaissance for Clemson University Press.

❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Cyberworld
❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Newsletter of Academic Affairs
Fayetteville State University
Issue Seven, October 2019

Kudos
❖ FSU Alumna Breana C. Venablé (Speech and Theatre, 2012) is a successful playwright living and working in New York City.

❖ FSU Alumnus Titus Farrell (Speech and Theatre, 2011) performs for Educational Theatre—Kaiser Permanente in the Atlanta area and runs his own production company.

Departments’ Doings
❖ Dr. Joshua M. Murray (English) has inked a contract to co-edit Editing the Harlem Renaissance for Clemson University Press.

❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Cyberworld
❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Newsletter of Academic Affairs
Fayetteville State University
Issue Seven, October 2019

Kudos
❖ FSU Alumna Breana C. Venablé (Speech and Theatre, 2012) is a successful playwright living and working in New York City.

❖ FSU Alumnus Titus Farrell (Speech and Theatre, 2011) performs for Educational Theatre—Kaiser Permanente in the Atlanta area and runs his own production company.

Departments’ Doings
❖ Dr. Joshua M. Murray (English) has inked a contract to co-edit Editing the Harlem Renaissance for Clemson University Press.

❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.

The Cyberworld
❖ On 10/24 in Seabrook, Penn, State University’s Dr. Dongwon Lee, FSU’s Dr. Lynn Bible and STR’s Dr. Neal Wagner will present the symposium “Fraud Informatics.” To attend, please register in advance. For more information, contact Dr. Daryush ILA, dila@uncfsu.edu.