* It is a good idea to take BIDA 630 early, since the methods introduced in that course are used in a variety of business contexts and are also useful for the other courses. Otherwise, for the most part, we recommend that you take courses with a lower number before taking courses with a higher number. For example, it is a good idea to complete both ECON 610 and ACCT 610 before you take FINC 620. Core courses are scheduled to be offered both Fall and Spring semester every academic year. Summer courses and electives will be offered as needed based on student demand and faculty availability.
