

FAYETTEVILLE STATE UNIVERSITY'S CENTER FOR DEFENSE AND HOMELAND SECURITY brings the FBI to campus in search of 2019 summer interns

The Center for Defense and Homeland Security (CDHS) in partnership with the Criminal Justice Department will bring recruiters from the FBI to Fayetteville State University on September 18th and 19th to promote their 2019 Honors Internship Program and Collegiate Hiring Initiative.

Their 10-week paid internships for undergraduate and graduate students offers an unparalleled opportunity to work alongside FBI employees and get a head start on an exceptional career.

Applications are currently open through October 14th. Representatives from the FBI's Recruitment and Selecting Unit out of Washington, D.C. will be on campus to host an information session and to conduct personal interviews in search of FSU applicants. On September 18, 2018 there will be a mandatory information session beginning at 6:00pm in LSA

121 for all students interested in interviewing for their extensive opportunities. FBI internships are not major specific; therefore, the application and information session is open to ALL degree fields. In order for students to sign up for an in-person interview, they must first attend one of two mandatory FBI prep workshops on September 12th and 13th hosted by Mr. Mose Harris, CDHS Program Manager for Federal Internships, and Professor Anna Perez, Lecturer and Criminal Justice Internship Coordinator. The interview is a requirement for any applicant applying to either of the FBI's internship programs and is only offered to the most competitive candidates. With over 15,000 applicants applying to last years' 2018 Honors Internship Program and Collegiate Hiring Initiative, FSU students have a golden opportunity to bypass the waiting period and have their interviews conducted on the spot. For more information, please contact Mr. Mose Harris at mharri29@uncfsu.edu / (910) 672-2008 or Mrs. Anna Perez at aperez5@uncfsu.edu / (910) 672-2272.
