

FSU's Criminal Justice Ranked #44 In the Country and #2 In NC

A criminal justice degree qualifies you for an array of careers in private and public sector organizations, including careers in law enforcement, courts, and corrections at the federal, state, and local levels of government.

Depending on the criminal justice degree level, graduates have opportunities to ensure public safety, contribute to the effectiveness and fairness of the justice system, protect the rights and property of individuals and organizations, and more.

A large number of colleges and universities provide criminal justice degrees. According to successfulstudent.org, Fayetteville State University is in 50 best in the nation list and #2 in North Carolina.

Details can be found here: <https://successfulstudent.org/criminal-justice-degree-best-programs/#101>

