

Compliance Alerts!

Homecoming Campus Safety

Fayetteville State University is committed to providing a safe environment for the entire campus community. As we prepare for a week of spirited Homecoming events, celebrations, and reunions, the Office of Risk and Compliance reminds all members of our campus community students, faculty, staff, and guests to prioritize safety, respect, and responsibility in all activities. Please review the following Homecoming Safety Tips to ensure that this year's festivities are both fun and safe for everyone.

Title IX Awareness

- Title IX protects against sexual harassment, assault, stalking, and relationship violence.
- Consent must be clear, informed, and voluntary.
- If you or someone you know experiences misconduct, support is available, and reports can be made confidentially or anonymously.

To learn more about the resources prevent and address sex-based discrimination, including Prohibited Sexual Conduct, please visit Title IX.

Construction Awareness & Safety

- Follow all posted signage and stay out of restricted areas.
- Do not cross barricades or move temporary fencing.
- Be extra cautious around heavy equipment, trucks, and rerouted walkways.
- Allow extra travel time between events to avoid blocked areas.

To learn more about safety on campus visit the Police and Public Safety

Responsible Celebrating

- Don't leave drinks unattended or accept drinks from strangers.
- Use the buddy system; arrive and leave events together.
- If you or someone else need help, don't hesitate to ask for it.
- Be cautious around parades and large gatherings. Use crosswalks and follow event safety instructions.
- Use crosswalks and obey traffic officers and signage.

Mental Health & Support Services

- Emotional safety is just as important. Help is available for those feeling overwhelmed, stressed, or triggered.

To learn more about the resources for comprehensive mental health/ substance abuse and student disability services visit Counseling and Personal Development. To learn more about the resources for maintain healthy lifestyle practices, please visit Student Health Services.

See something, Say Something

We encourage you to celebrate responsibly, respect others, and take care of one another. The Police and Public Safety department maintains a secure environment at FSU, operating around the clock 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, and 365 days a year. Their ongoing commitment involves not only responding to incidents but also proactively engaging with the campus community to promote safety awareness and preparedness.

For emergencies, call 911 or Campus Police at 910-672-1911

For non-emergencies, call 910-672-1775

To keep the community informed, all Compliance Alerts! are maintained on the University's Compliance and Enterprise Risk Management webpage. Compliance Alerts \(uncfsu.edu\)