CHAIRMAN’S REMARKS

Chair Lucy Vidal-Barreto welcomed the new Board members. She stated that her main objective is to set the direction as to where the Board should go as an oversight body and in the area of governance.

There are several focus areas/goals that Chair Vidal-Barreto highlighted. Funding outcomes and engagement was the first area of focus, especially as we engage in the five-year Capital Campaign, taking every opportunity to market the university and try to maximize a return on our investment. Chair Vidal-Barreto has expressed to Chancellor Anderson the need to organize one-on-one training sessions for the Board, which she’d like to do within the next four or five weeks. She will provide potential dates.

The second focus is on outcomes. Chair Vidal-Barreto stressed the need to continue to support the Chancellor and his Cabinet, the faculty and staff and to ensure that FSU is making progress toward fundraising goals. The Strategic Plan for 2015-2020 will be revised soon. Chair Vidal-Barreto has asked the Board to review the Strategic Priorities and select an area of focus that will be reported to her and the Chancellor. Meetings to discuss the strategic priorities will begin sometime in October.

Engagement is the third area that the Chair would like for the Board to focus on. Board involvement is key to fulfilling all goals. Board involvement includes allocation of their time, finances, and social interactions to name a few. Chair Vidal-Barreto has asked for 100% participation from the Board for the Capital Campaign. She thanked Board members who’ve already participated.

Chair Vidal-Barreto highlighted a few of the activities she has recently been involved in. The Board of Trustees Orientation was held yesterday and was very worthwhile. She also shared a thank-you letter received from outgoing Vice Chancellor for Business and Finance, Mr. Robert Botley. Trustee Vedas Neal represented the Board at the FSU National Alumni Association Conference held in Greenbelt, Maryland June 27-29. Trustee Neal stated the Conference was well attended and there were a variety of workshops that centered on the capital campaign, financial development and giving. Chancellor Anderson spoke to the group and Dr. Curtis Charles presented a thorough presentation on the Center for Defense and Homeland Security. The keynote speaker for the Conference was The Honorable Gladys J. Commons, Retired Assistant Secretary of the U.S. Navy. She is also an alum from the Class of ’69.

Chair Vidal-Barreto shared that the Board of Trustees received an invitation from General Administration to attend the Trustee Workshop on November 6th that will be held at the Hunt Library on the NC State campus. She will also attend a luncheon at the residence of the UNC President on October 21st that’s being held for all Board chairs. In final, the Chair asked that a campus tour be arranged for the next Board meeting.

CHANCELLOR’S REPORT

Chancellor Anderson shared that US Airways magazine featured FSU in an article about Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs) entitled “Ahead of the Class.” The article highlighted FSU’s unique curriculum. Chancellor Anderson was also featured in a video that was shown at the White House Initiative on HBCUs. He is hoping to get US Airways magazine to do a single feature on FSU.

FSU ranked at number 66 in a recent ranking of Business Schools, only to be preceded by Duke at number six, NC State at number 9, and Chapel Hill at number 17. FSU is the only HBCU in the top 100.

There are five challenges FSU face. They are as follows: 1) declining state support and budget reductions—we must come up with new revenue streams; 2) continuing to increase retention and graduation rates; 3) expanding our marketing efforts and rebranding to be more global and competitive in the 21st century; 4) infrastructure…old dorms…sinkholes; and 5) organization and operational fatigue.
