

Institutional and Professional Licensure Disclosures for Prospective and Current Students

FSU academic programs that lead to professional licensure and/or certification prepare students to sit for and achieve licensure and/or certification in North Carolina. Other states may have different educational requirements that academic programs and individual graduates must meet to be eligible for a license or certification.

If you are considering enrolling in an academic program that leads to a professional license or certification, please be aware that FSU may not currently be able to confirm whether a program meets State educational requirements outside North Carolina. Please contact the academic program of interest for guidance prior to enrolling.
