THE CHANCELLOR’S MEDALLION

The Fayetteville State University Chancellor’s Medallion features the university seal in bronze, brushed with gold, and surrounded with decorative florets, each of which holds a sparkling blue stone. The seal displays symbols of the University’s history. The historic Alumni Gates stand near the main entrance of Fayetteville State University on Murchison Road. Between the gates is the Howard School, from which the University emerged. An open book depicts the early mission of the University as a teacher preparatory institution. The clasped hands over the book symbolize the cooperation among races that has enabled FSU to grow and prosper. Within the banner is the University motto, Res Non Verba.

THE UNIVERSITY SEAL

The seal for Fayetteville State University, commissioned in 1989, was recently redesigned but retained the University’s historic symbols.

THE UNIVERSITY MACE

The ceremonial mace dates back to ancient Rome, where it honored heroes and nobility. Today, it is used as a symbol of authority. The mace was first adopted in 1986. During all formal academic processions, the mace is carried by the chief marshal. The mace is 48” in height with a fluted walnut staff.

CHANCELLOR DARRELL T. ALLISON
EXECUTIVE LEADER AND STRATEGIC VISIONARY

Darrell T. Allison is the 12th chancellor and chief executive officer of Fayetteville State University (FSU), the second oldest public institution in the University of North Carolina System. Chancellor Allison’s visionary leadership has catalyzed widespread institutional renewal, yielding unprecedented success in these core areas: academic progress, economic empowerment, and development; major funding acquisition and fundraising; service to military-affiliated students; and athletic competition. His tangible impact at FSU has caught the attention of state influencers, earning him a spot in Business North Carolina’s “Power List” in Education for three consecutive years, in 2022, 2023, and 2024.

A champion of educational opportunity, Chancellor Allison has worked intensively to improve college affordability and access, and to maximize student success. In 2021 and 2022, he used COVID relief funding totaling $3.2 million to clear student debt amassed during the pandemic, targeting student retention. Additionally, the University’s 30-60-90 Free Summer School program, now in its 3rd year, continues to optimize on-time graduation and has helped boost FSU’s retention numbers considerably. In 2023, nearly 66 percent of FSU students - 4,270 students - participated in the summer school program. Most recently, FSU welcomed nearly 7,000 students, with the largest first-year class enrollment in recent years and boosting its freshmen retention by 14% since 2020 (78%).

At Chancellor Allison’s direction, FSU has expanded access, services, and programming for military-affiliated students. The university recently launched a program to provide free tuition to all military-affiliated students, awarding scholarships to over 450 students in the program’s initial two years.

FSU’s innovation and commitment resonate with this student population as the university marked its largest enrollment ever of military-affiliated students for the second consecutive year. FSU is proud to serve more than 30% military-affiliated students, making the institution the highest by percentage of military affiliated enrolled students in the UNC System, and FSU has tapped top talent to advise on innovative military programming, appointing four-star General (Ret.) Michael X. Garrett as the military executive-in-residence in the College of Humanities and Social Sciences.

Allison secured a $10 million appropriation in the state budget to renovate and construct a new, full-service academic support center for military-affiliated students that provides study, meeting, and houses two ROTC detachments as well as FSU’s Department of Military Affairs.

Under Chancellor Allison’s leadership, the university rolled out the FSU Strategic Plan 2022-2027: Ready for Tomorrow. This blueprint for success captures five major priorities and metrics that will fulfill its promise to help all students, faculty, and staff achieve goals and advance the university’s mission. Simultaneously, the university underwent an intensive process to invest in its Campus Master Plan and introduced a 10-year (2023-2033) design that focuses on the enhancing academic spaces and study areas, outdoor features like walking paths and greenways, and additional resources that connect the university with the surrounding community.
Jacqie McWilliams-Parker has dedicated 31 years in intercollegiate athletics. After almost 10 years in championships at the NCAA, she is in her 12th season in her dream job as the CIAA Commissioner. She was thrilled to return to the place where her love for college sports and HBCUs began at Hampton University, Virginia Union, the CIAA, Norfolk State and Morgan State.

She has established her legacy with a 20-20-20 vision of learning, earning, and returning.

She received her undergraduate degree at Hampton University and is a member of the Hampton University Hall of Fame twice, once as a two-sport athlete and recently as a member of the 1988 DII NCAA women’s basketball national team. She is also a strong financial supporter of the university and athletics. She is a member of the Virginia union university Hall of fame for her commitment to women sports as a former coach and administrator and continues to contribute to the women’s program, the place that gave her start in the industry. She is a member of Temple Universities Gallery of success as an alumnus and where she has established a postgraduate scholarship for HBCU students interested in receiving their post graduate degree in sports management and hospitality.

Mrs. McWilliams-Parker loves the values and opportunities that sports bring personally and professionally. Although she has worked intently with the CIAA Board and membership to sustain the conference short term and long-term to include inviting Claflin University and Bluefield State to the family, her advocacy for access and opportunities for college sports, HBCUS, women, girls and boys extends beyond the CIAA! She has and continues to serve on numerous committees and boards that fuel her passion to make a difference and to have presence when there is none by women of color or HBCUs. She holds herself accountable and responsible for having a voice at the table, planting, protecting and growing seeds in the profession, creating opportunities for Black and women owned businesses and making impact in the community. She prides herself in being strategic and having a strong belief system that can advance what feels impossible!

McWilliams-Parker was a former member and president of the board for Women Leaders in sports, she is the chair for the HBCU 4 Power Commissioners, she is an active member of the Crown Jewel Links of Charlotte and Sixth Mount Zion Baptist Temple in Hampton, VA. She loves the Lord, the love of her life, her husband Shaun Parker and her legacy, daughter Samone Carpenter who will be attending Hampton University in the Fall of 2024!

Jacqie McWilliams-Parker is CIAA for Life!
Fayetteville State University acknowledges and celebrates alumni who graduated 50 years ago, by inducting them into the Golden Bronco Society. An invitation is extended to the members of the class to return to FSU during the Commencement Weekend to celebrate their Golden Anniversary. Each participating member receives a Golden Bronco Medallion and a certificate to commemorate this distinguished milestone. While many of them receive honors, accolades, and recognition from professional and civic organizations, rarely are they given the opportunity to come together with their classmates to be reacquainted, reminisce, and create new memories for years to come, as Fayetteville State University Golden Broncos. We celebrate the Class of 1974 and its many accomplishments and contributions to our beloved institution.

Fayetteville State University proudly welcomes the 2024 Golden Broncos, the Class of 1974, as well as their friends and families, to the 157th Spring Commencement.
